

SEPTEMBER 27TH & OCTOBER 4TH NORTH-SOUTH PARKWAY SUB-AREA STUDY

Northern Mecklenburg County and Southern Iredell County is one of the fastest growing areas in North Carolina. In addition to rapid population growth, the area has limited north-south roadways to accommodate increased traffic. In 2010, the Urban Land Institute completed a study that highlighted the need for north-south connectivity and recommended a new North-South Parkway. The new facility would complement existing NC 115 through the area and offer additional access for transit oriented developments.

Identification and refinement of the proposed North-South Parkway is necessary for the communities within the area. The North-South Parkway Sub-Area Study will better position facilities for funding and construction through the development process. Your input is critical for considering the use of existing roadways, new alignments or a combination of both, along with development opportunities for communities in the study area.
